THE FIFTH CIRCUIT

Continuances in Judge Hardy's Court.

HIS RULE THAT OF SUPREME BENCH

The Kauai Magistrate Writes of a Matter That Has Caused Some Criticism.

Editor Advertiser—In the case of the McBryde Estate vs. Gay and Robinson, action to quiet title to Kulua, on exception by plaintiff to a continuance granted to defendants by the Fifth Circuit Court, decided in the Supreme Court July 2, 1902, the rule said to have been announced by the Circuit Judge as to continuances was severely commented upon and held to be manifest error.

In this, the opinion of the Circuit Judge is in complete accord with the Supreme Judges.

The law regulating continuances has always been followed in this court.
When a motion for a continuance has been made by one party and opposed by the other the mover has always been required to file an affidavit setting forth a valid ground for his request, and in most cases he has been required to pay the costs arising from the delay.

Every case of the kind has been made to "stand on its own merits." Instead of an indiscriminate practice of allowing such motions on the payment of costs, a careful examination of the reason for the application has been made.

Now, in view of the above facts which cannot be controverted when the Circuit Judge stated his "final conclusion" as follows: "On the whole I am inclined to allow a continuance on the usual grounds, with the usual condition that the defendant pay the costs that arise in connection with it as being part of the practice of the court," etc.; is it a necessary conclusion as found by the Supreme Court that "it is quite evident that he (the Circuit Judge) intended to grant a continuance in any event upon what he called the practice of his court?"

The Supreme Court does not say that they find from the record that he had no substantial grounds for allowing defendant's motion and therefore he must have followed the rule imputed to him.

Apparently they took him at his word, as they interpreted it, and felt called upon to annul seriously upon his erroneous ruling. He admits that his decision must have been open to misconstruction; how else could the Supreme Court have reached its decision? It was unstudied, unguarded, and quite extemporaneous, and given on the last day of the term.

It is a matter of sincere regret that time was not taken to prepare a decision that would clearly reflect the views of the court and yet it would be capable of a more satisfactory construction.

The reasons for allowing the motion were:

1. The affidavit of defendant's surveyor that having used all due diligence he had been unable to complete the survey of Kulua in time for trial at the March term. (The complaint and summons were filed February 1st, 1902.)

2. The absence of defendant's attorney, who had returned to Honolulu.
He had informed the Court that he did not expect the case would be tried at the March term.

3. The panel had been discharged for the term.

It is said that "the law is a jealous mistress." It may also be said that every court should be jealous of its reputation.

J. HARDY,

Circuit Judge.
